Help Save Vital
War Materials
By Conserving Electricity

WE ARE GLAD to cooperate with the War Production Board in urging all our customers to conserve electricity wherever possible.

There is no shortage of electricity in this community, but you should remember that the production of electricity involves coal, transportation, equipment and manpower—all needed in the war effort. Therefore, we suggest:

In Your Home

- Eliminate all waste in the use of various electric appliances.
- Turn off lights and appliances when not actually needed.

At Your Business

- Eliminate decorative and ornamental lighting.
- Eliminate daytime use of lighting—as in signs and show windows—wherever possible.
- Day or night—turn off lamps not actually needed.

Electricity and eyesight are both important in fighting a war. Let's conserve them both.

"Don't Waste Electricity Just Because It Isn't Rationed!"

SOUTHERN STATES FARM LIFE

LAST winter was hard on field seed production—a lot of it was winter killed during the severe weather. Along with the weather, labor shortages and increasing Lend-Lease shipments have cut down on supplies available to farmers. Some seed stocks are going to be very short—particularly legumes. Southern States seed men report that Red, Mammoth and Alsike Clover will be on the short side . . . alfalfa will be scarce . . . and the supply of Crimson Clover will be about 20% smaller than last year. Vetch and Rye Grass supplies are also limited . . . and small grain seeds are definitely short.

All this emphasizes the importance of ordering seed early. Talk over your plans now with your local Southern States Cooperative Service Agency and book ahead for your own protection.

* * *

Once you've had a good dose of the Red Measles, you don't have to worry about them from then on. That's what happens to Clover and Anthracnose disease. Clover that's grown in the Mid-western and Eastern states where Anthracnose is prevalent develops a resistance to this disease. That's why all Southern States Clover Seed is selected from the Anthracnose belt. This Anthracnose-resistant Clover Seed is clean, hardy and highly resistant to injury from this disease which is common to Southern States territory.

* * *

Remember, feed starts with seed. Through Southern States Cooperative which had its beginning in 1923 as the Virginia Seed Service, farmers have been providing themselves with high quality adapted seed for the past twenty years.

IT'S A FACT! that farmers who purchase Southern States Kem-Tee treated seed will get up to six extra fast-germinating quarts in every bushel at no extra charge.
